

ETON PRESS LTD.

I have been dealing with Eton Press for nearly 30 years now for Linwood College and offer the following testimonial.

Eton Press is a long established Mathematics specific resource supplier with the largest range in New Zealand. To my knowledge they are the only dedicated multi source Mathematics supplier in NZ. As such they have built up a tremendous knowledge of what is available, where to source it world wide and how to deliver to schools the best product at a competitive price as well as the largest variety of Mathematics resources in the country.

I have always found Anthony Matthews direct and very competitive in his pricing. If another company quotes a price for an item, he will either better the price, match it, or tell you straight that he could not compete at that level. Hence we have continuously dealt with him successfully for a large number of years.

His knowledge of Mathematics resources is legendary for all levels of schooling and this has meant prompt action on a request for something that may seem obscure as well as being able to offer advice on suitable resources.

His service has been exemplary, in that we can place an order over the phone and it is delivered to us in the South Island within a week or if there is a delay in stock supply, it is delivered when he promises it. It is this personal service that we value.

Eton Press also supports Mathematics in New Zealand in other ways as well.

- There is the Eton Press Senior Mathematics competition organised annually through the Canterbury Mathematical Association.
- Support with attendance at the Biennial NZ Association of Mathematics Conferences around the country. Here he always offers discounts to participants and sale price bargains as well as a huge display of product. This is always very popular with teachers.
- Regular "What's hot" article in the NZAMT Newsletter bringing us up to date with new releases and products on the market.
- The Eton Press annual product booklet is the benchmark of what is available in NZ

Other Departments at school have over the years tried other suppliers and the Mathematics Department has been encouraged to look at alternatives but time after time Eton Press has proven to be the most competitive and best overall supplier.

We have no hesitation in recommending that other schools avail themselves of the services that Eton Press offer. Try them and be pleasantly surprised.
